

You're not alone in this

Current antidepressant not working for you? Let us help.

You may qualify for a clinical study in depression, including a novel investigational therapeutic and compensation for your time. Our study doctors are studying how your brain's unique biology impacts treatment response, looking at key biomarkers across sleep, cognition and emotion.

To join the Alto study, you must be 18 years or older, have a diagnosis of major depressive disorder (MDD), and be on an antidepressant medication.

Contact us and ask about the Alto study:

305 705-4494
www.meridianintresearch.com

